Description

Pair of Sèvres crystal vases, purple in color, decorated with gold enamel decoration. The body of the vases is decorated with gilded scenes representing female figures in stylized floral motifs, typical of the style of the late 19th century or early 20th century. The edges are highlighted with fine gilding, as are the hoops that structure the whole. These pieces probably date from around 1900, a period when the Sèvres factory excelled in the production of art crystal, combining technical innovation and decorative refinement. A "Sèvres" signature is visible on each vase, attesting to their provenance. The use of purple, a shade particularly prized for its elegance and rarity, combined with gold enamel, illustrates the unique know-how and prestige of the factory at that time.
