

Large Taxidermy Pufferfish In A Wooden Display Case From The Early 1900s

380 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Other

Description

Extra large specimen of Diodon Histrrix, also known as porcupine fish or more commonly puffer fish.

Its main characteristic is given by its extremely elastic skin covered with spines, which in case of danger can be inflated like a ball making the spines particularly dangerous for the predator.

This specimen, in addition to being unusually large, has a beautiful color that fades from beige to brown with dark brown polka dots.

In an original wooden notice board with period glass.

End of the 19th century

fish size 40 cm

display case 56x40 cm

Dealer

Antichita' Taddei Gilberto

arte antiquariato XVII XVIII XIX SECOLO

Tel : +39 3313821818

Mobile : +39 3313821818

via masini 135

Castelfiorentino 50051