Description

A superb quality mid 19th-century, William IV, early Victorian period four-door breakfront mahogany library bookcase. It features a molded cornice above four original glazed doors enclosing adjustable shelves. The lower section has center paneled mahogany cupboard doors, flanked by original glazed doors enclosing adjustable shelves, all standing on an integral molded plinth base. This piece is of great quality with a nice warm patina. England, circa 1840-1850. It comes with original keys and working locks. This stunning antique bookcase splits into nine sections for easy removal and is in lovely original condition.
