

Blue And White Water Pot Decorated With Lotus - China 18th Century Kangxi Period

2 650 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Porcelain

Height : 21cm

Description

Porcelain water pot with blue and white Lotus flower decoration, for the Vietnamese or Thai market.

This model would have been made after more rustic stoneware models, used to serve rice or tea.

China 16th/17th century

Transitional / Kangxi period (1661-1722)

Height: approximately 21cm

Length (of the two ends on either side of the handle): 18.7cm

Length (longest part of the body): approx. 20cm

For an identical model, see :

- Dresden, Augustus the Strong Collection, PO 2662, N 725

- Dresden, Augustus the Strong Collection, PO

Dealer

Galerie Drake

Chinese Porcelain & Chinese Works of Art

Mobile : 0689483023

32 Avenue de la République

Paris 75011

2663 N 725

- Museum Bredius, The Hague, N°

OCVO-055-1946

- Christies New York, Fine Chinese Ceramic and Work of Art, 19-20 September 2013, lot 1381

For an identical model, in Famille Verte glazes, (dated to the transitional period), see :

- Musée Guimet, N°G 5662

- Famille Verte Chinese Porcelain in Green
Enamels, Christian J.A. Jörg, p.31, Fig.19 (dated 18th century, with the possibility that it was transitional)

Provenance :

- Private collection from the North of France

The lid is missing, the handle has been restored at several points, as have the two ends, which have been broken off and glued back together, and there is some evidence of repainting in these areas. Some firing defects, chips, lines in the glaze. Some very short lines as well.

Another identical model is available in our inventory.

More information and photos on request, UV
photos also available.