Description

Louis XV style sideboard in solid cherry wood from the Nantes region, with an upper part equipped with 3 display shelves with wooden bars and small balusters. The bottom of the cornice is completed with a moving crosspiece decorated with small spinning tops. The high corners have turned wood elements ending in a ball. Another moving crosspiece is present in the lower part. Finally, the sideboard opens with two drawers fitted with two brass knobs and a heart-shaped entry. The keys and locks are functional. The elegantly molded doors with a recessed panel in the center are decorated with long vertical and chiseled entries in gilded brass. Below, the moving and molded lower crosspiece is carved with a shell in its center. This piece of furniture rests on scrolling front legs and straight
