Founded in 1878, the Daum house was originally linked to the École de Nancy movement. In 1892, Auguste Daum created the art department at the Nancy factory, which evolved with the Daum family: art deco, white crystal. Then the association with artists (350 signatures in nearly 140 years) such as Majorelle, Arman, Hilton Mc Connico or Salvador Dali, generated cult objects of French design and decorative arts.
