Description

Rare pair of antique sterling silver wine bottle coasters dating to the early George III period. Neoclassical style, having round hand-pierced bodies with geometrical and tureen style decoration, together with applied bead-edged top borders, and wood-turned bases.

Made by Thomas Daniell & John Wall and assayed for London, 1782.

Hallmarks are very rubbed. One coaster has an identifiable letter "g" for 1782, and the other coaster has faint "TD" over "W", which corresponds to the mark of Thomas Daniell & John Wall.
