Description
-------------

Beautiful wall-mounted carel in rosewood and lemonwood marquetry composed of a remarkable case richly decorated with lemonwood scrolls on a malissandre background from the beginning of the 19th century in the Charles X style and period. Baus dial with Roman numerals, painted on a silvered chiseled bronze dial, its shape like a large six-sided watch is of beautiful presence, opulent in the refinement specific to this period of creativity, it is hung on the wall by a large bronze ring crossing a beautiful generous bronze ball patinated in the same way; a beautiful mechanism composes it accessible from the back and in perfect working order like the striking with the Argentinian gong in bronze (bronze mixed with silver) which gives it its beautiful and clear sound. The mechanism wound with its key is
