Description

Louis XVI style chest of drawers in mahogany from the beginning of the 19th century, it opens on the front with three drawers with drop handles, and decorated with brass rods. The top is a veined gray marble with groove, rounded front corners. The lower upper drawer simulates three drawers, it is separated from the other two by a brass molding. The sides are two-panel. The rounded front uprights are fluted, the upper part is smooth, the rear uprights with projection are also fluted. This chest of drawers rests on four "spinning top" feet with rings and sabots. Beautifully made chest of drawers in very good original condition, completely revarnished.
