

Large Scene At The Antique 17th

2 900 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Restauré

Material : Oil painting

Width : 114 cm toile

Height : 75 cm toile

Description

Large oil painting on its original canvas from the late 17th century. In the 17th century, many artists were inspired by classical themes from Greek mythology, such as the scene of "Ulysses discovering Astyanax in the tomb of Hector".

This story, from ancient literature, was represented in various ways through painting at that time. The story in question comes from Homer's epic work, the Iliad, where Ulysses, the famous Greek hero, discovers the young Trojan prince Astyanax in the tomb of his father Hector, the Trojan prince who fell in battle. This discovery is tinged with tragedy, as it symbolizes the end of the Trojan War and the defeat of the Trojan city. Later period frame.

Transport France 80EUR in wooden formwork

Transport Europe 150EUR in wooden formwork

Dealer

Dorothee Tricot

Tableaux anciens

Tel : 0786203478

44 rue d'Orléans

Saumur 49400

Request a quote for any other destination.