Description

Pair of four-light candelabra from the Empire period featuring a vase. The patinated and gilded bronze body, flanked by two handles, supports on a terrace a second gilded bronze vase surrounded by three light arms decorated with eagle heads and foliage. The central fire is topped with an extinguisher flame. The quadrangular base in red marble is decorated with a ribboned crown of flowers. The whole is decorated with palmettes, friezes of water leaves and hearts. Parisian work in perfect condition.
