Description

Everything is noted in the title except that the glass was blown in a mold (the many streaks testify to this), Except that I did not mention that the glass is amber, that the graduations go from 500 to 2000 gr. I am surprised by the measurement in grams rather than in capacity. I did not say that it has a thick handle placed hot and that it rests on a large pedestal. I also did not say in the title that it weighs 1,800 gr and that it is in perfect condition. In fact, you did well to read to the end
