Description

Remarkable and fine small marine by the painter specializing in the field of Jublin, a well-known and appreciated painter of the 19th century. In its beautiful period gilded frame with large gilded molding, this small oak panel to paint is made with great detail in a twilight light, animated by fishermen approaching an inhabited coast.

Fishermen are busy in a large sailing boat and small boat against the light of a declining sun, the light breaking waves in the foreground playing with the rest of the light of the great sun with diminished intensity "in a luminous halo touching" the horizon, while offshore we can see fishing boats with all sails out, on the right the coast and its fine silhouette stands out against the mirror of the sea. A work full of delicacy signed at the bottom in red on the right. A decorative
