Description

He has had his fun several times.... The folk art section suits him like a foot... A shoemaker's leg that has really been used a lot. You can see the traces of the ties that fixed it to a support... And if you listen carefully, you can guess the exclamations of the craftsman who would have hit his fingers... This object is a witness to a know-how of yesteryear; I use it as a door stop... but it deserves better.
