Description

Pair of gilt bronze and iron andirons. France, 19th century.

The area closest to the fireplace has remained undecorated. The façade features two cupids with butterfly wings, a common detail in the 19th century, as well as eggs, shields and plant elements that complete the figures.

Classicism-inspired shapes are common in neoclassicism and in all decorative styles of the 19th century.

Dimensions: 25x20x10 cm
