Description
-------------

Polychrome and gilded bronze Guéridon display case, France, Napoleon III period, circa third third of the 19th century.

The small circular table has a transparent glass top, which reveals the padded interior, and a belt decorated with classically inspired garlands on a gold background. The single leg of the piece of furniture rests on three curved legs, decorated with openwork circles and finished with claws. The quality, simplicity of the lines and decorative elements place the work in France, during the reign of Napoleon III (1808-1873).
