Description

This small fine quality 18th-century George III period mahogany drum table showcases exceptional craftsmanship and elegant Georgian design. It features an original gilt-tooled leather inset to circular mahogany top. The frieze includes four oak-lined swivel drawers and four dummy drawers, all fitted with brass knobs. The table is supported by a refined gun barrel-turned central stem, which is complemented by three splayed legs and original brass castors. This piece not only serves as a stunning center piece for any refined interior but also exhibits a lovely patina that attests to its history. In very good sturdy condition, England, circa 1770.
