Description

Blanche Odin (1865-1954): "The Bunch of Grapes", watercolor 22 X 31 cm mounted by a cream marie-louise with gilded bevel in an old green and gold renaissance style frame 36 X 46 cm, with a "museum" glass and neutral pH cardboard. Dedicated "To Madame R..., friendly souvenir" We are proud to present to you today this adorable watercolor of a simple bunch of grapes placed on a table, a detached grain balancing the composition... If Redouté was the greatest watercolorist of flowers of the first half of the 19th century, Blanche Odin (1865-1957) is the greatest of the first half of the 20th. If, of course, it is her roses that have ensured in a well-deserved way, her reputation, she excelled in the representations of all kinds of flowers as can be seen in the excellent works of Monique
