Description

Hugo Pratt (1927-1995): "Original Plate For Ernie Pike", Indian ink, felt-tip pen and blue pencil on thin paper, reassembled and completed on cardstock, 50 X 35 cm at sight, mounted in an old burl veneered frame with fillets 65 X 50 cm. At the request of the publisher, Pratt took old plates which were cut out and reassembled to be published in a monthly in Italian. They were subsequently published in France in the albums "Ernie Pike: chronicles of war", this one being part of the episode "Francs tireurs" of volume 2 at Glénat (1980). The Venetian Master, great traveler and creator of the unforgettable Corto Maltese, is an internationally recognized virtuoso of black and white. Our plate, rare on the market, is a superb example.
