Description

A pair of early 18th century softwood (lime) busts depicting Ferdinand III, King of Hungary and Bohemia, and his wife Eleanor of Nevers-Mantua. Ferdinand III (1608-1657) was elected King of the Romans in 1636, and later became Archduke of Austria and Holy Roman Emperor-elect. The busts are finely carved and decorated with decorative details, including garlands and allegorical figures. Each bust has a small medal inlaid on the chest, adding a distinctive element to the ensemble. The carved bases feature fine ornamental work, reinforcing the noble appearance of the pieces. Female bust 58?36?30 Male bust 60?38?16
