Description

Superb glass vase signed Legras, featuring an elegant spherical shape and a relief decoration with stylized geometric and floral motifs etched with acid and enamel, typical of the Art Deco style. Its speckled orange background highlights the ornaments in red and brown tones, creating a play of harmonious contrasts. This vase, featuring an Art Deco design, would have been produced by the Legras workshops after 1916, under the direction of Charles Legras. This period marks a stylistic transition within the glassworks, where the naturalist influences of Art Nouveau gradually gave way to the clean lines and geometric compositions characteristic of the 1920s. A fine example of the know-how of the Legras house, illustrating the artistic and technical evolution of French glassworks at the
