Description

Wooden side table, waxed and patinated solid wood, at support height, late 19th century. Our piece of furniture is solid and stable, it can be used as a plant holder but also easily support a bronze, marble sculpture, etc. This side table is made up of four fluted columns with strange work on their lower part. An inverted spinning top under the center of the top is reminiscent of a second spinning top placed in the center of the base. This set of harmoniously turned and worked columns and spinning tops gives a lot of opulence to our piece of furniture.
