Necklace made up of a double row of falling cultured pearls, round in shape and with a pearly white orient. The clasp is rectangular, chiseled and in rose gold. It has a safety chain with a spring ring. Necklace entirely re-threaded on silk thread with new knots. Period: 20th century Main material: rose gold, 750 thousandths, 18 carats, hallmark, eagle's head. Pearl diameter: from 3/3.5 mm to 7/7.5 mm approximately. Length: approximately 48 cm. Net weight: approximately 27.5 g. Authentic antique jewelry - French work from the 1960s. Our opinion: The cultured pearl that makes up this vintage double row necklace is small and therefore easy to wear, both on the skin and on clothing.
