Description

Spain / 16th century / table / oak, wrought iron /
Rustic / Mid-century

A very early and rare oak table from the heritage of a Spanish ship. Hand crafted in full oak in the 16th century. The table top has a raised edge carved into the wood to prevent plates and glasses to fall when at sea. The large iron nails all around the freeze give this table its bold and rustic charm. Resting on 2 large sturdy cup and cover baluster legs with a centre stretcher.

This antique table is a unique find with an interesting nautical provenance. We love the attractive bold details and beautiful patina from ages of use.
