Description

A small treasure and a witness to the art of ancient Caucasian weaving, a superb fragment of Maffrash Karabag made by the Shahsavan. The Maffrash are the largest carrying bags used in the past by the nomadic populations of Persia and the Caucasus. Technique: Sumak Wool on wool. Weaving of extreme finesse made possible by the use of hand-spun wool and remarkable dexterity. It is a small work of art, a real little painting! Vegetable shades, of an unheard-of freshness and purity. Depth and luminosity. Circa 1850 Perfect condition Dim: 52 x 48 cm Laurent Beauty of Kilims
