Description

Elegant wooden lectern from the Louis XVI period, dating back to the mid-18th century, likely of Tuscan craftsmanship. It features a carved structure with clean and symmetrical lines, typical of Neoclassical style. The lower part is adorned with a central motif depicting a gilded Mecca angel, with refined decorative details showcasing the exceptional craftsmanship of the era. The gilding retains its original patina, with signs of wear that add to its authenticity and historical charm. The entire piece has a light tone, with golden finishes that highlight its intricate details. Video Here Dimensions: 40 × 33 cm - Height: 7 cm
