Description
-------------

French Art Nouveau cast iron gueridon with floral decoration circa 1900, stamped

Extremely elegant and delicate cast iron gueridon with 2 plates on three outwardly curved legs.

The entire structure is extremely finely crafted and has an almost poetic touch.

The top plate is framed by a fine, all-round border.

The central field is divided into recurring motifs of lines, curves and naturalistic elements.

The centerpiece is designed with a fine checkered pattern on which flowers with leaves can be seen, which are also painted.

The lower panel also features recurring motifs and a small central field with flowers.

The 3 legs are rounded at the sides in the upper section and then run downwards in a long, flared element.

A very slight grooved structure and an elongated leaf and flower element adorn the leg.

The foot has 2 small volutes at the bottom.

Everything is richly and lavishly decorated, yet the table has a restrained, elegant and refined appearance.

Both plates are stamped on the underside.
