Description

Tabriz rug made of wool and silk dating from the Shah period circa 1970.

Tabriz rugs have a long and interesting history dating back to the 15th century. They are woven in the ancient city of Tabriz in northwestern Iran. These rugs are hand-knotted and truly demonstrate the exceptional artistic skills of the weavers of this region.

Tabriz is renowned as a city of master weavers who excel in this particular art form.

The result is sophisticated rugs of superior quality, with some of the most elaborate designs and styles found in Persian rugs.
