Description

This early 20th century bronze with a golden patina is a remarkable work of art depicting a seamstress seated on a chair and working on a long drape. The attention to detail and the finesse of the execution are a testament to the artist's talent and expertise. The sculpture rests on a grooved base in bright pink Pyrenees marble, adding a touch of sophistication and contrast to the whole. The choice of pink marble enhances the beauty of the bronze's golden patina, creating a pleasing visual harmony. This piece is not only a captivating artistic representation, but also a tribute to the craftsmanship and patience of seamstresses. It will bring a touch of elegance and character to any interior space.  Period: Early 20th century Excellent condition. Shipping possible on quote in France and internationally
