Description

This Scandinavian Swedish rug is handwoven in wool.
Inspired by the artist Ingegerd Silow, it reflects the craftsmanship and artistic vision of the artist, a leading figure in Swedish textile design.
Known for her innovative approach and refined aesthetic, Silow's works harmonize traditional patterns with a modern sensibility, resulting in pieces that captivate with their beauty and intricate detail.
This Swedish rug exemplifies the ability to blend color, geometry and heritage in a way that is both timeless and contemporary.

The composition of this Scandinavian flatweave rug is marked by a luminous terracotta field, bordered by a series of flower buds, rendered in soft, radiant tones, forming a rhythmic frame around the central field evoking a sense of balance and elegance.

Silow's use of colour is both restrained and effective, giving the work a soft radiance and a touch of warmth that invites the viewer to appreciate its subtle intricacies.

The design features a series of interlocking shapes, creating a dynamic visual play that captures the essence of traditional Swedish weaving techniques. Silow's mastery of form and symmetry is evident in the careful arrangement and repetition of the motifs, each contributing to the overall sense of harmony and continuity that defines the work.
