This rug has never been used on the floor; its previous owner had hung it on the wall to admire it as a tapestry (which you can also do, we can take care of installing the velcro fastening system). This magnificent rug has benefited from a deep cleaning by experts from the Atelier Artisanal de la Galerie Lissier, and is now ready to adorn your interior! This generously sized rug (300x200cm) is a work of textile art that pays homage to the colorful and geometric aesthetic of Sonia Delaunay. It is hand-woven, combining the softness of wool with the robustness of cotton for a texture that is both comfortable and durable. Style and patterns Delaunay inspiration: The rug is part of the artistic movement of simultaneism, of which Sonia Delaunay was an emblematic figure. It features the use of simple geometric shapes (triangles, rectangles, semicircles) arranged in a dynamic and asymmetrical way.

Color palette: The colors are bright and contrasting, characteristic of Delaunay's work.

We observe a rich palette including deep reds, varied blues, bright greens, intense blacks and touches of beige and off-white. Composition: The composition is non-figurative, favoring the harmony of colors and shapes. The patterns seem to float and interact, creating an effect of movement and depth. Technique and materials

Hand-weaving: The rug is made using artisanal weaving techniques, which gives it a unique quality and character. Wool and cotton: The use of wool for the pile brings softness and warmth, while cotton for the warp and weft ensures the strength and longevity of the rug. Ambiance and use This rug is a strong piece that can transform the atmosphere of an interior. It brings a touch of color and dynamism, while evoking the elegance and modernity of 20th century design. It can be used as a centerpiece in a living room, bedroom or office, and harmonizes with various decoration styles, from vintage to contemporary. Summary

This wool on cotton rug, inspired by Sonia Delaunay, is a functional work of art that combines aesthetics, quality and comfort. Its bright colors, geometric patterns and artisanal manufacturing make it a unique and remarkable piece.
