Description

Small Louis XV chest of drawers stamped Delorme circa 1765 Small curved chest of drawers, opening with two drawers in length, with a concealed support crosspiece, decorated on the front and sides with natural and tinted floral marquetry representing bunches of roses and knotted nasturtiums, on a satinwood background arranged in a frieze, in a violetwood frame on which stands out a rich chiseled bronze trim. This asymmetrical rocaille bronze trim is composed of large polylobed volutes decorated with twining foliage detaching from the chest of drawers to form the handles of the drawers. Each of the edges is decorated with bronze falls with foliage decoration extending to the sabots. The drawers are locked by a single lock positioned in the upper drawer; this one having a lower bolt system
