Description

A piece with a beautiful life that has come down to us in white earth called Langais earthenware (Val-de-Loire), generous tobacco pot pipe holder with a beautiful milky white enamelled cover, well-argued with motifs of vine branches and on its edge beautiful protruding alveoli to place your pipes (in meerschaum...), well executed and with fine and very nervous motifs of bunches of grapes, vine leaf with intertwined and argued branches on the cover of a double arch as a dense and robust grip like this piece, which has become rare because it is fragile from a Manufacture that has talentedly produced such beautiful pieces such as cups, cache-pots, covered pots &c... With a beautiful presence and a certain decorative interest, this beautiful piece in its original aspect has slight small unimportant chips which do not
