Description

Triumph of Bacchus and Ariadne. Marble dust.
20th century, based on the model of CARRACCI,
Annibale.

Panel in polychrome marble powder showing, in relief, a theme common to classical mythology and art inspired by ancient Rome. The classical divinities Bacchus and Ariadne are represented on a chariot, accompanied by a procession composed of erastes, satyrs, maenades, Pan and Silenus, following a fragment of the famous fresco of one of the vaults of the Farnese Palace in Rome, painted by Annibale Carracci (Bologna, 1560 - Rome, 1609) between 1597 and 1600, considered one of the most important works of Romano-Bolognese classicism of the Renaissance. -

Dimensions: 110x3x140 cms
