Inkwell By Jean Dampt And Emile Muller

2 400 EUR

Signature : Jean Dampt et Emile Muller

Period : 19th century

Condition : En l'etat

Material : Sandstone

Width : 26

Height : 13

Depth : 16

Description

Enamelled stoneware inkwell with woman in a plant decor by Jean Dampt for Emile Muller

Jean Baptiste August Dampt was a sculptor trained at the Beaux-Arts in Dijon. A member of the Groupe des Cinq, which became l'Art dans Tout in 1898 and included Henry Nocq, Alexandre Charpentier and François Rupert Carabin. One of the group's ambitions was to decompartmentalize the so-called minor and major arts, as part of a social art perspective accessible to all.
Jean Dampt designed numerous models for the famous ceramist Emile Muller, including one sent to the Société Nationale des Beaux-Arts in 1896.

Dealer

Art Revival
Art Nouveau - Symbolisme - Arts décoratifs
Mobile : 0032456241543

Bruxelles 1060