Description

Beautiful set of 6 Murano glass pendants, "Arpasia" model. Model created by the French designer Jean-Marie Valery in the 1990s for Maison VeArt, a famous Venetian glass manufacturer. Subsequently published by Artémide. This is an original model that is no longer in the Company's catalog. Original label under the base. The tulips, all of the same size of 25 cm at the highest, are made of opaque white frosted glass supported by a steel cable covered with a rubber sheath. A beautiful decorative chrome-plated metal ring is present between each tulip and the cable. Intended to be arranged in a horizontal row, from the tallest to the shortest, the height of the set is in gradient from approximately 62 cm for the tallest to approximately 18 cm for the two smallest. height of the 4 largest can be reduced by shortening the cable. Very good condition. Working electricity. One of the metal suspension bases was previously - and properly - drilled at the edge to allow the cable to pass through (depending on the old installation). Fully cleaned, they are ready to be installed for a design and light of the most beautiful effect ... Please note that I respond to all requests about my objects.
