Description

Beautiful chandelier with 8 upward-facing lights, with small E14 fitting, the light is softened by tulip-shaped corollas in transparent glass with gold flake inclusions; it is precisely this feature of gold inclusions, along with other details and high quality, that leads us to attribute this piece to the Barovier glassworks of the 1950s-1960s of the 20th century.

The central bowl and the 2 stems of the rod are in transparent blown glass, while all other parts feature gold inclusions within the transparent mass.

The chandelier has been fully restored, cleaned, and electrified by us.
