Description

Art Deco sideboard from the early 1900s. Made with two doors on the front concealing two drawers and open compartments, a monumental mirror rests on the top in breccia medicea marble. Two turned and carved feet on the back and two curly and carved feet on the front support the piece of furniture, which is curved on both the sides and the front with two large spaces in the uprights in which two turned and carved motifs with leaf and fruit motifs are placed. Mirror with semicircular cymatium carved in lambrecchino, on the side two vase holder elements with two candelabras in the center carved like those on the piece of furniture; the mirror rests on the marble thanks to six ebonized spheres. The entire surface is veneered in walnut root and alternates walnut carvings with some ebonized ones. Small missing
