paintersHe settled in the Montparnasse district of Paris, where he lived for more than thirty years while working in the Paris metro. He also pursued a career as a painter and met most of the great artists of the early 20th century. He became friends with Antoine Bourdelle and received advice from Auguste Renoir. In October 1928, he co-founded the Salon des vrais indépendants where he exhibited until the Second World War.
He exhibited in Paris at the Salon d'hiver from 1937 to 1947. He sometimes returned to the South of France for long periods, notably in the
