presence.Georges Castaing (1895-1971), born in Pau, was a prominent painter in the southwest of France during the 20th century. Trained at the École des Beaux-Arts in Bordeaux, he gained recognition for his luminous landscapes, everyday scenes, and deep connection to the Béarn and Basque regions. A painter of realism and emotion, Castaing masterfully captured the light and spirit of southwestern France--from the Pyrenees to the ocean. His works can be found in both private collections and public institutions.The natural wood frame, simple and period-appropriate, subtly enhances the painting's authenticity and charm.
