Description

This pair of gilt bronze candlesticks, dating from the mid-19th century, is an exquisite example of the craftsmanship of the period. Each candlestick depicts a cherub, one holding a horn of acanthus leaves above its head in its right hand, and the other in its left. From these horns spring finely crafted chalices, adding a touch of delicacy and refinement. The cherubs rest on bell-shaped bases, adorned with decorative friezes in various designs. These candlesticks combine both artistic beauty and functionality, making them ideal decorative pieces to add a touch of elegance and charm to any interior. Their detailed design and gilt finish demonstrate the exceptional craftsmanship of 19th century craftsmen. Period: Mid-19th centuryExcellent condition. Delivery possible in France and
