Description

Large Reliquary Frame with Paperoles - Saint Cajetan - 19th Century An object of great rarity and exceptional refinement, this reliquary under glass is a 19th-century Catholic devotional work, probably made in Italy or France during the Second Empire. Description: In the center, an engraving of Saint Cajetan (San Gaetano) in adoration before the Child Jesus, surrounded by a luxurious decoration of paperoles, polychrome beads, gilded leaves and enameled flowers. The frame, in gilded wood decorated with acanthus leaves, frames this scene with a strong presence. The lower part contains a collection of authentic relics of several identified saints, including: S. Gaetani - S. Paul -S. Bartolomei - S. Vincentii .... And other labels legible in detail on the photographs. Each relic is carefully encased in an
