Description

Vegetable bowl with lid, Morro Castle, Havana, Cuba. Earthenware. Sargadelos, 19th century. It has minor defects. Vegetable bowl with handles and lid on which we can see a landscape, identified by a text (Morro Castle, Havana, Cuba), enhanced by a border that extends over the rim and continues (but in relief and not in pigmentation) along the handles of the piece; the base is also decorated. The lid is decorated with a raised flower as a finishing touch and a series of decorative borders in a tone matching the rest of the piece. Antonio Raimundo Ibáñez, Marquis of Sargadelos, founded the Royal Pottery Factory of Sargadelos in Cervo, Lugo province, at the beginning of the 19th century. The view of this piece belongs to the series of views of Cuba, used in the factory since 1848. - Dimensions:
