Description

Large antique oak dining table renovated. Materials: solid oak. Features: this former museum display table has been transformed into a dining table. With its grooved legs and V-shaped fascia, it clearly displays an elegant Art Deco style. Renovation: this Art Deco table has been sanded to remove its faded brown varnish and restore the natural color of the oak. It was then protected with a colorless matte varnish that preserves the natural color of its wood. As the table had a display case, the four small holes intended to hold it have been filled and stained. Dimensions: L180 x D75 x H77. Height under fascia: 62-63. This large Art Deco dining table can easily accommodate up to 10 guests. Four in total are available.
