Description

A specialty in painting that offers fewer objects than other subjects in painting. This view of the port of Hamburg, where we recognize the bell tower of the St Michel district, is very successful. Both the rendering of the water and the sky are technically very good. The very elaborate perspective is created by the diagonal of the ships, which brings a lot of good to this painting. A lot of finesse in this painting. Canvas in perfect condition in its original frame and placed on a stretcher with keys. Overall dimensions 79x99
Canvas dimensions 60x81 No restoration
