Description

Julien Caussé (1869-1914) - French Sculptor
Julien Caussé was a French sculptor born in 1869 and died in 1914. He distinguished himself in the art of bronze sculpture, creating works of great finesse, often imbued with an Art Nouveau style. His creations, combining elegance and dynamism, frequently represent female figures, allegories or mythological scenes. His talent and attention to detail are reflected in each of his sculptures, where he pays particular attention to drapery and expressions. Julien Caussé regularly exhibited his works at the Salons des Artistes Français, where he received several distinctions. Some of his sculptures were produced by renowned foundries, contributing to the dissemination and recognition of his work. Today, his bronzes are still sought after by
