Description

Polychrome and gilded wooden frame. Late 18th century. Rectangular frame with golden rocailles on a red background and elements related to the Passion of Christ in shields in the corners and in the center of the longer sides: dice, nails, bag (with Judas' coins), mallet and tongs, cross with spears and two whips. These motifs clearly show that the work was made to highlight a religious painting of the Passion, probably in a private chapel, given the lack of relief and the strong relationship of the work with the Rococo. -
Dimensions: 187x3x87 cm LUZ 51X154 cm
