Description

Pair of Marble Columns - Late 19th Century Work
Elegant pair of white veined marble columns, highlighted with details in yellow-orange marble (probably Siena). Each column rests on an octagonal base, with a slender shaft and a square capital. The harmonious proportions and the contrast between the marbles give the whole a great decorative presence. Ideal for highlighting sculptures, busts, vases or any other object of art. Refined work from the late 19th century. Dimensions: Height: 100 cm Diameter of the top: 25 cm Diameter of the base: 25 cm Condition: Very good general condition. Note: the base of one of the columns has an old restoration, visible in the photos. This was carried out with care and does not alter the stability or aesthetics of the
