Description

This is a superb quality pair of pitch pine country farmhouse spindle-back cane-seated kitchen armchairs, dating from circa 1880, and they are in good condition. Their exceptional quality is matched by a fantastic color that enhances their appeal. The armchairs feature a prominent shaped top rail, flanked by two upright supports adorned with simple finials. Below, a bank of finely turned spindles is secured by two horizontal rails. The cane seats are also in good condition, both offering comfort and style. The base of the chairs showcases lovely turned legs with a pair of bulbous-shaped front stretchers. The front stretcher is heavy and turned, indicating a high standard of craftsmanship. Additionally, the chairs are reinforced with twin connecting turned H-stretchers, ensuring stability and
