Description

Oak sideboard opening with two doors entirely carved with gadroons, interlacing and leafy masks, the sides with raised panels. This is the upper part of a two-part piece of furniture, restored and transformed into a low sideboard, hence its advantageous shallow depth. It dates from the second half of the 16th century. Two shelves are present inside, the lock (currently without a key) and the hinges have been replaced, we note on the restored top the location of two small missing elements as well as a filled chip at the front. The closest color to reality is that of the first photograph. Height 91 cm - width 107 cm - depth 32 cm. Very pretty little piece of furniture in good general condition, beautiful patina.
